

CCIVS proposal for enterprises

CCIVS can offer personalised training services to meet your companies needs in the field of intercultural education.

Our trainers are experts in the field and have many years of experience, they can conduct trainings in English, Spanish and French.

CCIVS proposals a first meeting to define your organisations needs. A formal proposal will then be made which can be further developed based on your feedback.

Intercultural education can provide your employees with key skills in communication, understanding and team building. Your organisation will benefit from a team which is more adapted to your needs and who work together for the benefits of the team as a whole and your company alike.

Quotations includes pedagogical costs, rent of the room , training materials, handouts and travel costs of the education team. This varies depending on the size of the group and the duration of the training course.
