

Youth ideas deserve to be seen.

Across ten countries in Sub-Saharan Africa, young people aged 18 to 30 have spent months doing something remarkable. Through the LIVE-Ex Earth Advocacy Mentorship Programme, they have crossed borders virtually, built projects from the ground up, and proven that digital spaces can be places of real solidarity.

The results speak for themselves. Community actions facilitated through LIVE-Ex have reached hundreds of households across partner countries. Participants who once lacked confidence in their digital skills are now leading local climate awareness campaigns, advocating for social change, and building the competencies that open doors to the global job market.

On Tuesday, 30 June 2026, they are ready to show you what they built.

Join us for the LIVE-Ex Virtual Dialogue — free, online, open to everyone.

You will hear directly from the young advocates behind the projects. You will see what peer exchange looks like when it is rooted in climate justice and digital inclusion. And you will be part of a growing community of people who believe that young voices deserve to shape the world they will inherit.

This event is part of CCIVS' contribution to the International Year of Volunteers for Sustainable Development (IVY 2026), co-funded by the Erasmus+ programme of the European Union.
